2. Provide feedback on significant changes identified through the 2018 International Building Code Update.

Council discussed the sprinkler change, giving the building community an opportunity to provide feedback, additional regulations, review by the Building Review Board (BRB), the aging population, that Glen Ellyn adopted the sprinkler requirements and subsequently reversed the decision, and smart home technology.

Novack said the BRB has reviewed the update and staff recommendations.

Diane O'Conner, Naperville, asked Council to install a sound wall for all residents impacted by the 95th Street project.

Novack clarified that at the May 16, 2018 City Council meeting a straw poll was taken regarding City cost participation at any level. The majority of the Council supported some level of cost participation and the purpose of the discussion is to determine the level of funding participation by the City.

Council discussed whether a fence will buffer traffic noise, that taxpayer money has already been expended for landscaping at the speaker's house and trees on the median, what would be the appropriate process for other sound barrier requests, and the cost difference between installing a wall and a fence.

Novack explained the noise study that was conducted and that the U.S. Department of Transportation stated that the limits of the study performed were proper and consistent with their practice and policy, the limits were correct in not extending west of Plainfield Naperville Road, and were not influenced by property values as stated by the residents.

Council discussed the terminus of the noise study, a cost share arrangement, and whether Will County would be amenable to contributing contingent upon City participation.

A motion was made by Councilwoman Obarski, seconded by Councilman Krummen, to direct staff to work with Will County to share funding and, if Will County participates, the City contribution will be no more than 30% of the cost. The motion carried by the following vote:
