

What's next, Naperville?

Input from residents and businesses is needed to determine the City of Naperville's priorities for the next three years! City leaders need your help to determine what is most important.

Please visit the City's engagement hub, www.BridgetoPossibility.org, to learn more, take our NapervilleNext Survey, and connect with your neighbors on important questions like these:

- How can the City help businesses and residents bounce back from COVID?
- How do we create and maintain a variety of housing options, styles, and price ranges?
- How will we revitalize strip shopping centers for tomorrow?
- How do we ensure resiliency to natural and man-made disasters?
- How can we inclusively engage all Naperville residents, including those that don't usually get involved?

We'll use your input along with deliberations with the City Council and City staff to develop the strategic plan.

Paper copies of the NapervilleNext Survey are also available at the following locations:
