BACKGROUND:

The Naperville Electric Utility (Utility) requires the use of standard inventory items of molded rubber, cold (and heat) shrink terminators, splices and arrestors. These products are used to connect electric distribution cables to each other or to other Utility equipment such as transformers as part of repairs, upgrades or new installations. These products protect the cable ends from contamination and failures, which would interrupt electric service to the Utility's customers.

In October 2019, the Utility issued Bid 19-282, Molded Rubber and Cold Shrink Products, to renew the expiring one -year agreement that is currently in place, and to obtain new bids from vendors for the required products. The approved manufacturer part numbers list and estimated quantities required for the year were supplied as part of the bid documents.
